Gondolier: Investing in the apprentices career

One of the most important aspects of an apprentice’s journey is the quality of training that the apprentice receives. Their training cannot be properly delivered without the correct tools relevant for their trade. Gondolier have for this reason partnered with NF Apprentices to assist both Spray Painting and Auto Body Repair apprentices in getting the relevant tools for their trade work at a cheaper and more affordable price.

When apprentices have their own tools, their production levels increase and their confidence on the job is multiplied. Moreover, they develop increased responsibility on jobs they have been given, because they think creatively without any limits.

At the beginning of the apprenticeship, these amateur artisans are taught different tools and their functionality as foundational base to the rest of their journey. This offering by Gondolier not only affords the opportunity to own their own tools but to also be able to practically see the tool that they are being introduced to.

When the complete their complete their they have a basic their careers and they have been investment will help our country and inspiration and a those that move on bossed.

Caroline, is the 2nd female spray painters to graduate through the NF programme in the past 5 years. It makes us so proud to send out female artisans into a male dominated industry. Women spray painters have been proven to be the better that men, Caroline is surely re affirming that truth.

She started her apprenticeship in 2014 and worked very hard to make her way to the top. We are grateful for panel shops like Cornright Motors that continue to invest in training and development so giving the apprentices an dreams and ambitions, but and those that depend on
